The Patpanhale Education Society was founded in the year 1962. Late Dr. Tatyasaheb Natu, the then MLA of Guhagar Assembly Constituency, founded the Society. The Patpanhale Education Society was established for providing education to the poor and downtrodden people of this area. Dr. Tatyasaheb Natu was the founder President of the Society. Initially it was started only for providing education up to 10th standard for the students of Patpanhale and surrounding areas, and later on in the year 1991 Junior College was established. In the year 1992 Degree college with Arts faculty and in the year 1995 Commerce faculty was started. Post-Graduation Course started in 2016 with M.Com. in Business Management. Moreover New English School was established in Talavali village in the year 1972. At present Shri. Bhalchandra Raghunath Chavan is the president of the Society and is ably guiding the society since 1989. At present, the institution being run by Patpanhale Education Society.

Principal's Desk

Dr. Raosaheb G. Jadhav
(Chief Editor)

Patpanhale Education Society, Patpanhale, Tal. Guhagar, Dist. Ratnagiri (M.S.) established in the year 1962, took permission from the Government of Maharashtra to start its Patpanhale Arts, Commerce and Science College in the year 1992. The college is located at Patpanhale-Shringartali, Tal. Guhagar, Dist. Ratnagiri (M.S.). It is affiliated to the University of Mumbai. Initially the management started its Arts Programme and later on Commerce Programme with nine academic departments (Marathi, Foundation Course, English, Political Science, Rural Development, History, Economics, Commerce and Accountancy). Almost all students are from rural areas and around 50% of them are from socially backward and downtrodden sections of the society. Girl students are around 55%. It is a common feature of the parents and the students that after passing 12th standard examination, students either go to Mumbai for jobs or discontinue their education. The management and the staff of the college have been taking very hard and sincere efforts to attract them for getting higher education. Consequently, we achieved a lot in this direction. We work always in the direction towards our vision, mission, objectives and values set for enhancement of quality education.

In the long way of advancement, the college has attained certain landmark achievements such as assessed and accredited by the NAAC, Bangalore with C++ grade in the year 2004, getting permanent affiliation from University of Mumbai in 2007-08, enlisting the college under sections 2(f) and 12(b) of the UGC Act and then assessed and accredited by the NAAC with B Grade in December 2013 and the college is in the process of getting accreditation for 3rd cycle in 2020-22. The college has arranged a number of activities for the upliftment of students and the staff. It has also started Post Graduate Programme (M.Com. in Business Management) in the year 2016. The college has also started a centre of Open University for students from educationally deprived sections of the society. The college has about 43 Cells and Associations for the development of the students. A number of faculty members are pursuing research work leading to Ph.D. Degree. The teachers have undertaken several research projects funded by University of Mumbai. The college has been shifted in the new building since 27th November, 2019. In all our endeavors, Hon. Shri. Bhalchandra Raghunath Chavan, President, Patpanhale Education Society, played a vital role and because of him and our consistent efforts towards academic, co-curricular and extra-curricular, sports, N.S.S. and other activities of cells and associations, created a concrete way for sustainable development of the students of this vicinity.

Impact of F.D.I. on Retail Business in India

Foreign investment was introduced in 1991 as Foreign Exchange Management Act by then Finance Minister of India, Mr. Manmohan Singh. As Singh subsequently became a prime minister, this has been one of his top political problems. Most of the oppositions disallowed overseas corporate bodies to invest in India. The fast and steadily growing economy of India in majority of its sectors, has made India one of the most famous and popular destinations in the whole world, for Foreign Direct Investment. India's ever-expanding markets, liberalization of trade policies, development in technology and telecommunication, and loosening of diverse foreign investment restrictions, have further collectively made India, the apple of investors' eye, for most productive, profitable, and secure foreign investment. According to a recent survey by the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD), India has conspicuously emerged out as the second most popular and preferable destination in the entire world, after China, for highly profitable foreign direct investment. In recent years, bulk of the foreign direct investment in Indian business sectors of infrastructure, telecommunication, information technology, computer hardware and software, and hospitality services, have been made by investors of countries like US, UK, Mauritius, Singapore, and many others. Amount of FDI (from April 2000 to July 2012) into India stood at US$ 176.76 billion. India is the 3rd largest economy of the world in terms of purchasing power parity and thus looks attractive to the world for FDI. Even Government of India, has been trying hard to do away with the FDI caps for majority of the sectors, but there are still critical areas like retailing and insurance where there is lot of opposition from Indians. Some of the major economic sectors where India can attract investment are as Telecommunications, Apparels and Information Technology etc. 7th December 2012, FDI cleared all its entry barriers in the India market with support of UPA government. There was a voting poll conducting the parliament sessions, where Mayawati and Mulayam Singh clearly boycotted the voting panel hence making an easy way out for the government. This poll was conducted on the basis of having Wal-Mart and Tesco as the local market outlets in India. Foreign Direct Investment, will change the scenario of the Indian market now you would be able to have products at the cheapest rates, you would have the Coke and Pepsi outlet in your colony. This will definitely affect the other retailers and the middle men in the business of transportation and those who were dependent on the retail market on 7th was legalized. The guidelines are drawn and the December FDI foreign companies need to stick to these lines in order to productively carry out their company outlets in the Country. The MRP's will be decided and foretold by the government. The companies will be asked to have maximum employees.

Need of FDI

- 1) Domestic capital is inadequate for purpose of economic growth.
- 2) Foreign capital is usually essential, at least as a temporary measure, during the period when the capital market is in the process of development.
- 3) Foreign capital usually brings it with other scarce productive factors like technical knowhow, business expertise and knowledge.
- 4) If the investors are interested in investing in the infrastructure sector they are welcome because by this they will leave something for the host even if they claim that they are not interested afterwards, but investors in this sector are very less.

Benefits of FDI

- Improves Forex position of the country.
- Employment generation and increase in production.
- Help in capital formation by bringing fresh capital.
- Helps in transfer of new technologies, management skills, and intellectual property.
- Increases competition within the local market and this brings higher efficiencies.
- Helps in increasing exports.
- Increases tax revenues.
- Foreign goods in easy reach to the people.
- Cheaper rates comparative to before, all the middle men expenses are ruled out.
- All the brands and products will be available.
- Eliminate Middle men.
- Improved Technology.
- Exports and Import Markets will be improved.
- Prices of the Product will be cheaper due to competition.
- Will generate good employment opportunities.
- Better prices for farmers.
- Better Storage and warehousing facilities.
- New technology will be introduced.
- Imports, export facility will be improved with other countries or within country.
- Lots of employments will create for the fresher's.
- Farmer will get good price for his agriculture.
- Middle person will be eliminated.
- FDI reduces the prices of the products and enriches the amount and quality of goods.
- It will develop the infrastructure of our country. Billion dollars will be invested in Indian market.
- It will spread import & export business in different countries.
- Agriculture related people will get good price for their goods as middlemen will beremoved.
- It will help in technology transfer.
- It will improve the quality of products and services.
- It will increase employment by creating jobs for top, middle and bottom level.
- It will increase the quality of goods.
- It will increase GDP (Gross Domestic Product) of India.
- It will provide ease to customers to buy their goods.
- It will help country to become developed country.
- It will reduce adulteration. Hello Friends,
- The small businesses are already being affected by rise of supermarkets like reliance fresh, more, spencer's, big bazaar etc., as can be seen in the recent years the increase in popularity of these supermarkets is gradual not exponential and they are just starting to penetrate rural India. Retail majors are not going to come in and capture a huge share of this market; they will compete with Indian retailers, who will innovateto compete with foreign retailers.
- Middle man is a huge problem in India. In the past few years, we have seen many instances of middle man hiding produce (grain, pulses etc.) in go downs to create artificial inflation causing huge fluctuation in prices, which the common man had to bear. With foreign retailers buying directly from the farmers and providing it to the consumer at the lowest price possible, its good both for the consumer as well as the farmer.

Disadvantages of FDI

- Domestic companies fear that they may lose their ownership to overseas company
- Small enterprises fear that they may not be able to compete with world class large companies and may ultimately be edged out of business. Large giants of the world try to monopolies and take over the highly profitable sectors;
- Such foreign companies invest more in machinery and intellectual property than in wages of the local people;
- Government has less control over the functioning of such companies as they usually work as wholly owned subsidiary of an overseas company;
- All the middle men workers will face a drastic loss
- There are around 23 crore of people who are currently engaged in the middle men business will be jobless
- Indians are generally dependent on this broker business, unemployed people usually opt this way out and hence most of the Indian employers will face “no jobs”
- All the transport and profiting business will decline
- What will be the situation of Retailers who are presently running their small business, they will be out, will not be able to compete with big businesses.
- Employment will be only for educated what about India's uneducated people as India is not a country where everyone's is educated.
- What Steps have government taken for Middle Men.
- Price will be Cheaper during Initial Period's once the small retail businesses are out prices will be automatically increased.
- Will lead to Monopolistic Competition.
- It will affect 50 million retail traders in India.
- Due to automation it will reduce employment opportunities for common people but will create employments only for educated and professional persons.
- Price of products will be increased and an economically background people will suffer.
- It will lead inflation.
- It will vanishes the small scale industries of India and families depend on these small industries will be ruined and thus create huge uneducation and crime.
- After a period of time they will be market regulators and will destruct our economy.
- Some of my friend discuss that farmers will get huge benefit from this because there will be no middle man. Do you think our farmers have capability to earn large amount of profit they are not able to deal with our government it is because 70% of them are uneducated.
- I think we should read our history books how one British company make Indians from a golden bird to poor and hungry Indians.

A Beautiful Story

(Dr. K.R. Shindhe)

A king had many elephants, but one elephant was very powerful, very obedient, sensible and skillful in everything especially his fighting skills. In many wars, he was sent on the battlefield and he used to return only after getting victory for the king. Therefore, he was the most loved elephant of the king.

Time went by and there came a time when the elephant started getting old. Now he was not able to perform as before. Therefore, now the king did not even send him to the battlefield but he still remained as a part of the king's team.

One day the elephant went to a lake to drink water, but unfortunately his feet got stuck in the mud there and he went on sinking. He tried a lot, but he could not remove himself from the mud. People came to know from the sound of his screams that the elephant was in trouble. The news of the elephant trapped also reached the king. All the people, including the king, gathered around the elephant and made various efforts to get him out. But alas, even after trying for a long time, there was no way out.

At that time, Gautama Buddha was passing by. Gautama Buddha stopped and inspected the site of the incident and then suggested to the king that the battle drums should be played around the lake. The listeners felt shocked at the bizarre suggestion as to how the trapped elephant would come out by playing the battle drums. But they could not say anything to Gautama Buddha and started playing the drums.

As soon as the drums of war started ringing, there was a change in the gestures, behavior and determination of the troubled elephant. At first, the elephant slowly stood up and then gradually used his force and intelligence and before long, came out of the mud on his own, shocking everyone. Gautama Buddha smiled and said:

There was no lack of physical ability in the elephant, but only the need to infuse enthusiasm, Motivation and Will within it was missing. To maintain enthusiasm in life, it is necessary that humans maintain purposeful thinking and do not let despair dominate their thoughts...!!!

In today's tough times we all need to enthuse ourselves & people around us with Hope & enthusiasm by playing, if need be the BATTLE DRUMS, that we will again Celebrate Abundance of Joy, Health & Happiness.

REMEMBER: THIS TOO SHALL PASS!!
